Position Profile: Substitute Teachers in all subject areas

Amy Biehl High School, Albuquerque, New Mexico

The Amy Biehl High School (ABHS) in Albuquerque New Mexico is seeking new substitute teachers. ABHS is a 230-student charter school founded in 2000, with an exemplary history of preparing students for college and citizenship through its dual mission of “scholarship and service.” The work of the school is inspired by its namesake, a humanitarian and Fulbright Fellow who was tragically murdered in South Africa in 1993 while working to elect the first democratic government in that nation’s history.

This position requires the candidate to implement teacher lesson plans, supervise students and ensure student compliance with school rules.

Candidates for this position must have 60 credit hours and be able to pass a background check.

All applications must include resume and supplemental application. Please send or fax to:
